

GAMBLING MUST COME TO AN END

WEB BUZZ 2011.07.18

Of all the economists we follow closely, Professor Steve Keen, featured in the video linked below, is right there at the top along with Gary Shilling and David Rosenberg. None of us ever agree on everything, an instance with Keen is his global warming stance. There are a few more, however his long term outlook, in our opinion, is right on. His comparison to the 1930s and Japan is correct - even to the extent that the deflation this time will not be as bad, but those predicting hyperinflation just do not understand the financial system.

Please follow the link below for Steve Keen's interview with On the Edge with Max Kaiser: <http://youtu.be/3qo3t8EBNSg>